you and your child
learn to communicate

WHAT IS MOTHER GOOSE TODDLER TALK?

Mother Goose Toddler Talk helps parents find different ways for their child to communicate by using songs, rhymes, signs and stories.

WHO IS MOTHER GOOSE TODDLER TALK FOR?

Parents of young children (between 18 and 36 months) whose toddler has been referred to the Infant Development Consultant or Speech Clinic.

WHAT HAPPENS AT MOTHER GOOSE TODDLER TALK?

- Families meet with a Speech-Language Pathologist and Infant Development Consultant once a week.
- You will have a relaxed and fun hour of learning, listening, laughing and playing.
- We will show you and your toddler some fun action rhymes and songs. - We will tell stories and you can practice what you have learned.

REMEMBER TO:

1. Turn off your cell phone.
2. Bring a healthy snack/drink.
3. Leave toys at home.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS?

Learning how to talk is not as easy as it seems! A toddler who can talk or speak well and tell their wants and needs will:

- feel secure, more confident, and independent
- use more words to tell you their needs, interests, and feelings
- be less frustrated, because they are able to communicate things which are important to them
